Antioch Ward

By Elma Pulham

Changes have been make in the bishopric of Antioch Ward· Richard Lennard, who was 2nd counselor to Bishop Rex Ivie, was transferred from the Sears Antioch Store and moved to San Ramon.

Richard Savage, who recently moved into the ward, was chosen to fill this vacancy. The Antioch Ward bishopric now consists of Bishop Rex Ivie, 1st counselor Archie Pulham and 2nd counselor Richard Savage.

The primary has also undergone a change. LaVon Long and her counselors, Carloyn Christensen and Janet Bond have been released from the Primary after serving for four years. Betty Crase is now Primary president and has chosen Ruehl Cline and Vickie Savage as her counselors.

Sadness has again touched Antioch Ward. Loss and bereavment came recently to the home of Alan and Betty Crase when their foster daughter Darlene Kukonen was killed instantly in an automobile accident. Darlene was a beautiful, sweet young girl, loved by all who knew her. She recently finished high school & was to have entered DVC in Sept· She came to the Crase home in 1963 and was baptised the following September. Darlene was active in church organizations and is missed by all.

Burton and Mary Ivie have been saddened by the death of their oldest son Jay Ivie who died Sept. 1. Mary and Burton lost their oldest daughter a few years ago·

IT'S NOT TOO LATE.

To write a note of appreciation or a post card to Channel 5, Van Ness Avenue and Greenwich St·, San Francisco, for carrying the recent General Conference morning session and radio station KEEN, San Jose. for Broadcasting the afternoon session.

If enough of us take the trouble to say "thank you" perhaps we may not have to seek in vain, as we have the last few conferences. You DID enjoy it enough to say "thank you" didn't you?

HEALTH HINTS

Q. How contagious is measles?

A. Measles, a totally unnecessary disease, can assume epidemic proportions in medium to heavily populated areas. 80% to 90% of the population will have contracted measles by age 20, and in the average year about four million children have it. The chief danger of measles is more serious illness brought on by complications, such as brain damage, pneumonia or deafness. These can happen to young children if precautions are not taken, which is why the doctors of S.O.S.—Stamp Out Sickness—urge high level community immunization to be sure measles doesn't visit your home.

HERE IT IS!

News of your stake and ward happenings that your reporters have sent in faithfully and looked for in vain—as you have—and have been reproached for NOT submitting—has been held, in type or in copy.

Why hasn't it been used before? Money—or lack of it—is the reason.

The Messenger isn't intended to MAKE money. But it CAN'T LOOSE much, without either going out of business or becoming a financial drain on the owner stakes. So we MUST pay expenses from year's end to year's end. This means WE MUST SELL ADVERTISING SPACE.

Our advertisers are loyal. They are with us from month to month. In an average month there is enough advertising revenue to support an eight-page paper, but a 12-page paper would lose money. For mechanical reasons we are compelled to increase or decrease in multiples of four pages. The press won't produce a nine, ten or 11-page paper.

So that's why your Messenger has been a skimpy eight pages the last two months. We'd rather make it 16 pages every month. But that means more people must buy advertising space.

Ask any of our regular advertisers if the space they buy doesn't more than pay for itself. We know the answer you'll get. Then let us tell YOUR story about YOUR business or service.

Our publishing committee disapproves of discussing Messenger problems in print and we have a rule "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen," but the volume of queries received demands comment.

Happy Life Can Be Won By Youth

A happy home is the result of a happy marriage resulting from a beautiful period of courtship in which the right mate is chosen, one who will help you do your best, said Henry D. Taylor, assistant to the Council of Twelve at Oakland - Berkeley Stake's quarterly conference September 18.

Elder Taylor told young people "you can be stronger than the forces about you . . . keep clean minds and bodies . . . keep virtue—don't have any skeletons in your closet . . , and, remember that the proper place for marriage is in the House of the Lord.

Young men and women were also urged to consider all their gifts, talents, the things they can do well, and to seek education and training to help them meet the difficult times which lie ahead.

Elder Taylor brought a message from President O. Leslie and Sister Dorothy Stone: "We love you very much and we miss you."

Other conference speakers were Oakland-Berkeley Stake President Elmo Smith and counselors Lorenzo N. Hoopes and Richard Owens. Also called on for brief expressions were President and Sister Wilbur W. Genealogy? What's In It For Me?

"What's in it for me?"

This is a perfectlv natural question that all of us ask frequently, consciously ir not. This is especially true about genealogy and research. Archie Brown, 150 Sierra Drive, Walnut Creek, a high priest in Walnut Creek ward, found some nuggets in his Book of Remembrance. What's in yours?

Brother Brown found a whole dynasty of actibe, dedicated, interesting people" come to life" through the efforts of themselves or close relatives in setting doyn some of the amazing events in their lives. For instance Brother Brown's grandfather aniel Berry Rawson had a youngest daughter who cared enough to write down some of the facts of her father's long, active, and intensely interesting life from his bith in New York State in 1827 to his death in Utah in 1892.

The intervesing years his life was an active part of the history of the Church and its persecutions through Indiana, Missouri, Illinois (and Nauvoo), the celebrated march of the Mormon Battalion, the discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill, the reunion with families and friends at Salt Lake and Council Bluffs, Ia.

During the early-day persecutions he was burned out and driven out no less than five ties, shot at, and his family's property and livestock confiscated by force. Details of the incidents were written by the daughter.

Another story in the same Book of Remembrance is that of Nancy Boss Rawson who as a girl was employed as a servant in the house of the Colonel Williams who led the mob that killed the Prophet Joseph Smith. She overheard her own life treatened because she "knew too much" and only escaped from the house by a ruse. Her family also had been burned out by a mob.

Space permits onl ythe briefest mention of these fascinating people. But records such as Brother Brown's are available in Books of Remembrance throughout the Chuch, perhaps in your own or in old letters

RICHMOND WARD NEWS

A project tried in other wards was begun at a recent sacrament service. Bishop William Charles has called five families to refrain from shopping for one week and report to the ward on their experiences. This should be living proof of the necessity of every family having a family food storage program going in their home.

Families chosen were Earl Amtoft, Fred Chester, Lester Gunn, Gad Williams, and Larry Seberson.

Roy and Janet oorman are in chare of the family home food storage progra. A short meeting will be held once a month after Sacrament service to familiarize us with best buys and special sales being held in this area.

Sgt. Del Priest, officer in charge Juvenile Division of Richmond Police Deptartment, gave a special talk to the young men and women at MIA recently. He showed films recently released by the Police Dept. on narcotics and the temptations our young people have to avoid in our schools and society today.

The ward was saddened by the recent illness and death of Brother George A. Burgener who passed away at the age of 88. Brother Burgener, an active high priest, is survived by his widow, Emily. Services were held at the Civic Center Wilson Kratzler Mortuary.

New diectors of our active YOUNG MARRIEDS are Dwayne and Phyllis Parsons who have just moved here from Washington, and have a busy scheduled already outlined for the group.

There Are Many Things To Learn At Camp Liahona

By Winnie Ellis

What is Liahona? Is it a place or a feeling?

There are the hours, days and months of planning. Sheduled meetings, casual discussions, exhanging ideas between leaders and girls. That is a part of it.

The day of departure comes swiftly, with half awake parents transporting wide awake, excited young women to the buses. Friends are greeted and everyone hustles onto the waiting buses. Stacks of sleeping bags and suitcases somehow disappear into the luggage compartments, and with singing, laughing, waving, and even a few tears, leaders and girls bid goodbye to the smog filled air and crowded streets of the city. It's a beginning.

On arriving at Camp Liahona each unit finds the spot that is the very best in the whole area. This will be their home for a whole wonderful, fun packed week.

Morning comes with the sounds of birds and squirrels instead of noisey freeways and jet airplanes. The tall, stately pines greet the morning in the sparkling sunlight.

In the years that are to follow, these young women will remember and find a use for the many things they learn during the four years of training in the Church Camp Certification Program. This program has been planned and set up to equip the mothers of the future with the skills and knowledge to care for their families.

What would the home of the future be without fun songs, family programs, or trips into the wild areas of this land to enjoy the great gifts of God.

Many things are learned in the clinic set up at the beginning of the week, where experienced girls pass their knowledge of the camping skills on to those with less experience.

Since so many accidents happen at home, their first aid instruction and practice will be of great assistance in caring for the children that will someday be theirs.

As they gather rocks, flowers or sticks for crafts, they learn what God has created for their pleasure. They find that by constructing a table or chair from rope and sticks, their comfort in camp will increase, and the values of the conveniences of home will become more apparent.

Girls and leaders sit together to plan for the overnite hikes away from the main camp; what to take, what food will give the most energy and be light enough to carry, and easy to prepare over an open fire, and where they will go.

How many girls today know how to sharpen and use an axe, hatchet or knife in preparing a cooking fire to provide a hot meal for either themselves or for a group? Does the average girl know how to make a bed in a safe place out of doors or choose a campsite to the best advantage?

A Liahona girl knows how to store her food to protect it from hungry animals. She can find her way from her camp and back in safety by the use of a compass and map, the stars or the sun.

Have you ever felt the joy and excitement at the sight of a flickering flame as it feebly starts to burn and then the triumph as the small flame eats it's way into the well arranged sticks of wood to become a real camp fire? And to think you did it all by yourself with twigs, leaves, branches and moss, and with nothing but a flint and steel to start it with. This is achievement.

What kind of fire is the best for cooking in one pot, or in foil or on a stick? What fire hazard could there possibly be in pit cooking? Is the same type of fire used for cooking as is used for keeping warm? Ask a Liahona girl.

Being a woman is cooking, sewing, singing, cleaning, exercising, keeping family activities well organized, counseling, cooperating, understanding others, preparing an attractive table for the comfort and well-being for her family.

Being a camper at Liahona is learning to plan and prepare balanced meals, learning safety rules and regulations, learning to acquire and maintain proper equipment, learning how to hike, what to wear, and how to carry the equipment you'll need for self preservation, learning to appreciate the beauties of nature, learning to teach and lead others, learning to make proper shelter from the elements of nature, learning not to be afraid,, but secure in your own judgment. Being a Liahona girl is learning to be a well adjusted woman, who can meet any situation with the assurance that she has the skill and knowledge to handle it.

Yes, Liahona is a place, but it is also a feeling, and unforgettable experience.

Put On A Mask

It is a natural law that "as a man thinketh, so is he." But did you know that "as a man behaves, so thinks he?" If you dress and act as if you consider yourself attractive, or smart, or important you convince those around you, and you convince yourself, that you possess those talents! It is easier for a man to capture self-respect and the respect of others ,if he appears organized. It is easier for a girl to act like a lady, and be treated like a lady, if she looks like a lady. If a teenager wants to be considered responsible enough to make his own decisions, he must appear responsible both on the surface, and from deep inside. The secret is that if he acts "as if" he is responsible, he becomes responsible. If a girl acts as if she is pretty, and a lady, she soon becomes more beautiful both physically and spiritually.

Then put on a (Halloween) costume of clothing and habits. Choose heroes and imitate them for the traits which they possess, and which you wish you hadd. Were you to choose any cstume of someone else's talents and abilities, and wear it for the year, it would then no longer be a costume, but the real you, and you would have taken into yourself the habits you admired. Some costumes would take more time to "stick" than others, but do not think that you would become artificial! You are wearing a costume now that reveals itself in the things you wear, say and do, and you will become permanently like the costume you are wearing in time! Choose a good costu
Act as a child of our Father in Heaven and let the courage, intelligence, dignity and divinity that is in you shine out by giving it a proper actor for the part. Make it a happy costume, too, for you will wear it, and friends will recognize you in it, for time and all eternity!

Close the day softly behind you
Quietly come to your rest
Nothing but memory can bind you
Let it be only the best·
The worries that put you to test
The trouble that sadly inclined you
Slip away like an unbidden guest
If you close the day softly behind you.
